Feeling thirsty for something non-alcoholic? Try something a little different.

For those of you looking for a little caffeine with your liquid, you'll be happy to know that maté comes in a lot more options than the bulk bin of your local natural foods stores. Boulder-based Pixie Maté offers the South American leaf in a variety of incarnations: as chai, latte, plain and with chocolate and chicory. Hot or cold, it's a tasty way to wake up.
